HARDING WARNS AGAINST CHANCE OF WORLD RULE

President Says One Need Never Picture World Sovereignty.

NEED CO-OPERATION

Chief Executive Makes Speech in Brief Stop on Way to Williamsburg

Yorktown, Va., Oct. 19.—"The time is come when there must be recognition of essential cooperation among nations, devoted, each of them in its own peculiar national way, to the common good, the progress, the advance of human kind," President Harding said here today when he made a brief stop on his way to Williamsburg, to pay his respects to those heroic soldiers of Washington, who here turned the tide of the Revolution in the battle of Yorktown.

Though declaring for co-operation among the nations, the president warned against a "world sovereignty."

"One need not picture a world sovereignty, ruling over all the varying races, traditions and national cultures because it will never be," the president said. "No program which seeks to submerge nationality will succeed. This republic will never surrender so priceless a heritage, will never destroy the soul which impelled our gratifying attainments. In the sober circumspection, retrospection and introspection of these crucial times we believe there is sanity and urgent need in bringing the best thought of great peoples into understanding and co-operative endeavor which shuns the alliances in arms and strengthens the concords of peace, so that each may realize its rightful destiny and contribute its utmost to human advancement and attending human happiness."

President Harding paid high tribute to the Revolutionary war, and declared that "surely a God-given destiny must have inspired and an infinite hand assisted in directing."

The victory won at Yorktown was of transcending importance to the world, the president said, for "its paean of victory was the morning song at the dawn of a new era of freedom, made secure in popular government."

"Inevitably liberal public opinion deliberate and grown dominant, brought Great Britain and America to a policy of accommodation and pacific adjustment for all our differences, until today finds the United States and Great Britain 'naturally arrayed together' in the trusteeship of preserving civilization."

In this union and in the convictions of these two nations there is warning against conflict for all time to come, the president declared.

COUNTERFEIT BILLS IN CIRCULATION

Urbana, Oct. 19.—Watch your five dollar bills, is a warning sent out by the Champaign National Bank. A clever work with paste and ink has succeeded in raising one dollar bills to five dollar bills, and the "phony" bills are in circulation in Urbana and Champaign county. One was received with a number of bills at the Champaign National Bank, Saturday.

Although the counterfeit can be easily detected by close observation it will readily pass unnoticed in a rapid exchange of bills and that is the only manner in which the counterfeit passes the public.

The one dollar bills which have been raised are on the Federal Reserve bank at Cleveland, Series D-4. The figure five, same style of type as the type on a genuine five dollar bill, is pasted over the figure one in each corner of the one dollar bill. At the top of the back of the bill where the words "one dollar" are written the counterfeit has covered the "on" with "five" and has been added to form the plural of dollar.

Seven Nurses, Poisoned By Candy, Critically Ill

Physicians Fighting to Save Lives of Chicago Women Following Sickness Which Occurred After Eating Sweets Sent By Unknown Person.

Chicago, Oct. 19.—Physicians are fighting today to save the lives of seven nurses of the West End Hospital who were critically ill as a result of eating poisoned candy sent to Miss Rosenfeld, a nurse. It was sent anonymously, Miss Rosenfeld herself partook of it and gave some to Miss Theresa Life, Miss Grace Breakstone, Miss Alma Bernfeld, Miss Helen Leslie, Miss Anna Ruhle, and Miss Daisy Casey, who chanced to be with her in the recreation room of the hospital when the candy was received.

Attending physicians said today that the stricken nurses have a chance for recovery although their condition is critical. Analysis of the candy showed, according to chemists, that the box of candy contained enough of the poison to have killed scores of persons.

Several men who are known to have been acquainted with Miss Rosenfeld are under surveillance by the police. Several have been questioned among these are William and Benjamin Zimmerman, brothers, and acknowledged rivals for the affections of the nurse.

SENATE RATIFIES PEACE TREATIES WITH 3 NATIONS

Only Three Republicans Against Pacts Tuesday Night.

Washington, Oct. 19.—The administration's peace treaties with Germany, Austria and Hungary were ratified by the senate last night, the vote on the first two being 66 to 20, or eight more than the necessary two-thirds, and in the case of the Hungarian treaty, due to the absence of three senators, being 66 to 17.

The senate action completed the administration's immediate peace program and brought a full state of peace with the principal enemy powers. Remaining now only are the formal exchanges or ratification except in the case of the Hungarian treaty, as that government alone has yet to complete parliamentary action on the treaty.

Only three Republicans: Senators Borah, La Follette, and Norris, who absent on account of illness were paired against ratification, voted against the treaties. Fourteen Democrats, on the other hand, including Senator Pomeroy, supported the treaties, while two more were paired in favor of ratification.

Before final action was taken, a Democratic effort to substitute for the German treaty the treaty of Versailles with the 12 Lodge reservations was defeated, and the foreign relations committee reservations prohibiting American membership on the allied reparations committee or any other international commission without the consent of Congress were adopted.

Randall yesterday refused to appear before the board of inquiry appointed by the shipping board to investigate the charge that he had refused, while commanding the steamship Hudson, to aid three men adrift in a disabled motorboat in Ambrose Channel Oct. 7. The men later were rescued by another steamer.

STRIKE DANGER HAS VANISHED A. F. O. L. SAYS

Action By Workers Connected With Organization Awaits Meet

BELIEVE ALL "BLUF"

Officials Take Attitude That "Big Four" Brotherhoods Won't Strike

Chicago, Oct. 19.—Strike action by the 1,500,000 railroad workers affiliated with the American Federation of Labor now awaits the outcome of the peace conference of the railroad labor board with the "big four" brotherhoods.

The federation railroad unions will go ahead and formulate the policy to be followed but will defer action, leaders announced today until the brotherhoods determine whether they will carry out their strike program.

The A. F. O. L. leaders believe the danger of a general strike has vanished. In their opinion the brotherhood chiefs will accept the compromise plan offered by the labor board. All along they have privately expressed the opinion that the brotherhoods action was more "bluff" than anything else and the "big four" chiefs were merely waiting for an opportunity to crawl out of the situation in the most graceful way possible.

Two hundred chairmen and vice presidents of the United Brotherhood of Shop Laborers and Maintenance of Way Employees representing 300,000 men and officials of the Brotherhood of Railroad Clerks representing 400,000 workers began meeting here today to make final decision as to whether to join the strike of the brotherhoods. Part of the six shop crafts are also meeting and will have a full conference Saturday. The order of Railroad Telegraphers and other unions in the Federation group will begin conferences tomorrow. The executive of all federation unions will meet Sunday when the decision of each union will be presented and final policies formulated. Whatever action is taken will have united support at all the unions.

ROBBERS MAKE OFF WITH MANY PAPERS IN BERGDOLL CASE

Washington, Oct. 19.—A box containing many official papers relating to the congressional investigation of the escape of Grover Cleveland Bergdall, the draft dodger, and some private family documents, was stolen Monday night from the office of Representative Johnson, located on the main floor of the house office building.

Entering the office which adjoins the postoffice through a window, the robbers took the box as big as a trunk, out of the door and down the main corridor of the building to the street. Nothing else of value was molested.

A shuffling of the box would have shown the robbers, Mr. Johnson said, that it concealed no heavy articles such as liquor, which thieves lately have sought by robbing the offices of many members. The weight was not much more than that of the box itself.

Believing the robbery was committed by persons who wanted to obtain possession of the Bergdoll papers including documents used in preparing the majority report on the draft dodger's escape, Mr. Johnson asked the Washington police to make a rigid investigation.

They got a number of excellent finger prints. The Capitol police guard the building at night, one being stationed within less than 100 feet of the Johnson office, but none of them apparently, saw the robbers.

READJUSTMENT NOW IS NEARLY OVER

Atlantic City, N. J., Oct. 19.—Addressing the metal branch of the National Hardware Association yesterday, George M. Verrity of Middletown, O., said that in his judgment the estimated 30 per cent increase in wealth in the United States acquired during the war would be wiped out by the time the process of liquidation and readjustment is over.

"I believe, however, that 80 per cent of the readjustment and liquidation is now over," he added, "and that the tide has turned."

He predicted unprecedented prosperity in the United States during the next 10 years, advocated closer trade relations with the rest of the world and a reduction in armaments.

"We cannot have a maximum of prosperity in the United States unless the countries of Europe are enjoying prosperity," he said.

U. S. Railway Labor Board Goes on Trial For Life

Storm Center of Wage Controversy, Which May Precipitate Nation-Wide Strike, May Be Abolished If Failure to Solve Trouble Comes Out.

Washington, Oct. 19.—The United States railway labor board—storm center of the wage controversy which threatens to precipitate the mightiest transportation tie-up in the country's history—is about to go on trial for its life. Inability of its members to emerge victoriously from the anti-strike negotiations which open in Chicago, Thursday, with chiefs of the "big four" brotherhoods, will mark the launching of a concerted drive in congress for the abolition of the board according to the opinion expressed today by Senator Cummins of Iowa, chairman of the senate interstate commerce committee and author of the law which created the wage fixing body.

Open defiance of the labor board and repudiation of its decisions by both railroad executives and labor organizations has led Senator Cummins to the conclusion that immediate and drastic changes in the board's legal make-up will be imperative if the impending conference results in failure.

"If the railroad labor leaders and executives continue in their refusal to accept the decisions of the labor board," Cummins declared, "it would be futile for it to continue to function. Nothing would be left congress to do but to abolish the board altogether, or put teeth in the transportation act."

Abolition of the board, rather than the enlargement of its powers is understood to be favored by the majority of the members of the senate interstate commerce committee though governmental regulation of railway wages and working conditions would be perpetuated by the transfer of such authority to the interstate commerce commission along with the consolidation of those regulatory agencies would make it easier for the government to deal with the knotty transportation problems than under the present system.

BELIEVE RAIL STRIKE MAY BE AVERTED OR AT LEAST POSTPONED

Conference, Thursday, Will Suggest Plan for Adjustment of Trouble, Said to Have Sanction of President Harding—Armistice Declared Until Then.

Chicago, Oct. 19.—A virtual armistice in the rail strike situation was in effect today as all actions in the fight that threatens a nation-wide tie up of the country's transportation awaited the conference tomorrow of four railroad brotherhoods with members of the U. S. railway labor board.

The impression prevailed in labor circles here, today, that the strike will be averted or at least postponed as a result of the conference which will begin tomorrow. Labor leaders have declared that any faction that would assure a withdrawal of proposals of present wage cuts by the railroads would forestall the strike and postponement of wage reductions have been announced as a definite part of the board's plan for the settlement of the dispute.

Members of the board were to hold an executive session during the day at which the plan for adjustment of the dispute is to be discussed. It was learned that the high lights of the scheme which is believed to have the sanction of President Harding include:

(A)—Immediate suspension of the strike order pending further negotiations looking toward a settlement. Use of the influence of the brotherhood leaders to forestall strike orders by any other labor organizations now considering a walkout. Proposal of a platform on which final settlement might be reached, this platform to include the following points:

(B)—Immediate reduction of freight rates by the roads. The completion of this platform, it was believed certain today, would avert the present strike as it would put a halt to contemplated wage reductions.

The strike vote taken by the unions was solely on the question of wage cuts. This settlement would not, however, adjust other points in dispute between the roads and their employees and train service men have emphasized as highest importance. One of these is the question of time and another is the cancellation of existing rules and working conditions. Labor leaders, especially those affiliated with the American Federation of Labor have insisted that the matter of pay for overtime work and the code of working regulations constitute the real bone of contention in the railroad labor controversy.

Because of the fact that the strike vote on which action is now being considered is on the question of wage reductions, however, it is believed that the plan of the labor board will avert the present crisis, leaving the matter of time and working rules to adjustment by later negotiations. The conviction was expressed by labor leaders today that the plan of the labor board already has been tentatively accepted by the railroads and by the unions. It was pointed out that it was hardly likely that the labor board would announce a definite plan and proceeded along definite lines without some assurance that the program to be followed was acceptable to the parties involved in the dispute.

GAME ON FRIDAY WILL BE WATCHED WITH MUCH INTEREST

Among the molekin artists whom Coach Earl Prugh, of Antioch College is training for the initial combat with Cedarville, October 21, is Bryant, formerly a center at North Carolina University; Whitaker, a 175-pound full back from Hamilton high school; Green, formerly quarterback at Culver military school; Wardman, who will play tackle, and who hails from the University of Wisconsin, where he was all-state center for two years, and who is captain of the Antioch team; Ward, of Texas, a Division A man who is staying over, and who will play end; Chappelle, guard, formerly of Middletown high school; Jones, a half back from Ohio State; Esther, 180-pound tackle from the University of Missouri; Stolz, a half-back from Amherst and a number of other promising athletes including several former stars from Steele and Stivers high of Dayton, who will likely find berths on the eleven.

The game with Cedarville Friday will be watched with interest by the fans, who are anxious to learn the development of athletics at Antioch, which has not had a football team for years, and also the progress of athletics in a school operating under the cooperative plan. At the University of Cincinnati, where the plan has been in operation, football students beginning this season, are held in school during the division changes in order that there will be no break in the practice.

Strict observance of the village ordinance against the burning of leaves on the streets will be enforced in Jamestown, according to an edict handed down by Mayor Harry Frazer.

The pallbearers were Ralph, Frank and Lee Livingston, the three sons of the deceased, George Hagler, brother, and Ralph Spahr and John Galloway, brothers-in-law of Mrs. Livingston.

THIRD MORE SPACE FOR PARKING CARS OBTAINED IN CITY

Thirty-three and one-third more parking space was derived in the business section of the city through the recent laying off of parking spaces, it is announced by Acting City Manager T. H. Zell.

A survey of the number of cars parked on East Main street was made on two different Saturday nights before the parking spaces were painted on the streets, according to Mr. Zell, and another survey was made on a Saturday night after the work had been done. The results showed that one-third more cars were parked in the same area than before the spaces were marked off.

"The advantage lies in the fact that even if there are only two or three cars parked at intervals on the street, there are sufficient different spaces for a certain number of cars between each. In the past a car drawing up to the curb next another machine, might leave almost enough space for another car to park between them without leaving a sufficient amount of space and as a result considerable room all along the street was lost."

Several merchants who wish to keep space in front of their places of business restricted from parking, have purchased standard police signs, warning against parking by order of the police, according to Mr. Zell. When these signs are posted, the merchants who had them installed will be furnished police protection in seeing that the signs are heeded.

Cases of parking within the safety zone around fire plugs, will be strictly enforced according to Mr. Zell, who says that police have been instructed to arrest offenders at once, and they will be dealt with in police court. Tickets will be procured soon, says Mr. Zell, which will be tied to the steering wheel of machines that have been parked in violation of the city parking ordinance, warning the owner against future parking in that manner. The number of the machine will be kept and second offenders will be brought into police court.

The Greene County Automobile Club is well satisfied with the marking of parking spaces on the streets, according to Secretary Frank Davidson. The club is now considering asking the city commission for an automobile traffic ordinance which will be as near standard in terms as in investigation of similar ordinances in other cities can make it.

ROAD SIGNS WILL BE PLACED SOON

Forty-five road signs will be placed throughout Greene county soon by the Greene County Automobile Club soon, it is announced.

The placing of the signs is the first step in the campaign to be conducted by the club to see that directions are properly marked for motorists. More will be added later, it is said, after the first batch of signs has been distributed.

Some of these signs, at prominent intersections, will bear four or five directional marks to different points. Their locations have been fixed and they will be installed as soon as they arrive here, it is said.

WEAK BLOOD IS A REAL BARRIER

Growing Children Often Need Gude's Pepto-Mangan

Some children grow too quickly—it saps their strength. They lapse into careless, desultory habits, or develop a shrinking attitude. Their faces look pinched.

The blood becomes overtaxed by too rapid growth; and poisons from the system take the place of strength-giving red corpuscles in the blood. Red corpuscles are those little red particles that swim in blood and give it its color. Gradually, that child loses interest in its play.

Poor blood needs the building that the iron in Gude's Pepto-Mangan gives to weakened blood. Gude's Pepto-Mangan enriches the blood by increasing the number of red corpuscles, and restores the blood by driving out the poisons. When the revived blood gets to work, the appetite becomes what a growing child's should be. Your druggist has Gude's Pepto-Mangan in liquid or tablet form. The name "Gude's Pepto-Mangan" is on every package. adv

MAY MANUFACTURE HANDKERCHIEFS AND PADS AT ANTIOCH

The manufacture of handkerchiefs and paper pads may be started at Antioch College in the near future, pending the investigation of the possibilities of such industries, it is announced.

The manufacturing program will be in furtherance with the present cooperative plan of education which provides that students go to school five weeks, absorbing the theory, and then work five weeks, to acquaint themselves with the practical side of their studies.

If the manufacture of handkerchiefs is adopted, a standard handkerchief for both men and women will be made and packed for sale in lots ranging from a dollar up in price. A research committee is now gathering data on the paper industry, in connection with the proposed manufacture of paper pads. The pads would be principally for use of students and it is hoped to manufacture them at a price that would appeal to school boards for use in the schools.

Students attending Antioch under the co-operative plan, are being provided with employment regular during the five weeks they are away from the school, it is said. "We find," said President Arthur Morgan, "that it is not a good policy to place some in a position because such a position is open. We do not accept an offer of a position unless we have a student to place there who is capable of filling the job. In this manner we eliminate any prejudice that might arise."

CALLED SOUTH ON ACCOUNT OF ILLNESS

The Rev. Dr. D. D. Dodds, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of this city, has been called to Albuquerque, New Mexico, by news of the serious illness of his sister, Mrs. S. B. Burton. Mrs. Burton, who has visited in Xenia and has many friends here, went to New Mexico because of ill health about a year ago. Complications arising from heart disease recently undermined her health still further and the message received by Dr. Dodds said that she is now dangerously ill. Dr. Dodds left for Chicago Tuesday night, and will probably be away from his charge for a few weeks.

Severe Winters Shorten Many Lives; Noted Authority Warns Against Colds, Urging Use of New "Nash Treatment"

Think It Duty of Newspapers to Instruct Readers in Use of This Positive Relief for Colds, Coughs, Sore Throat, Grippe and Pneumonia.

BREAKS INCIPIENT COLD IN TWO MINUTES BREAKS BAD COLDS IN TWO HOURS

Compound of Menthol, Camphor, Oils of Pine, Sassafras, Thyme and Eucalyptus Applied Externally Produces Vapor Which Soothes and Heals Membranes of Nose, Throat and Chest.

"Only the fittest shall survive" is an exploded theory. Look at the confirmed invalids about you, the "delicate" people who have "poor health," and then turn to the pages of last year's newspapers to the record that shows thousands upon thousands of deaths of men and women and children known to be in robust health one week, but in their graves seven days later.

Not that the weak can withstand the ravages of disease better than their neighbors, but that they take care of themselves and the healthy do not.

"The Common Cold is the civilized world's greatest enemy" says a noted authority. Our very mode of living encourages colds. We wear warm clothing indoors, while our homes, offices, stores and shops are kept at "summer heat." We breathe devalitized air, we pick up the germs of the other fellow's cold, we sneeze and sniffle for a day or so—and then grippe, influenza, pneumonia.

Too many people neglect a cold. A noted specialist in his latest book proposes that every newspaper in the land publish interviews with local physicians every day this time of the year, that school and health authorities should teach the children to dangers of even a slight cold.

Dosing yourself with miscellaneous medicines without a doctor's advice is imprudent. Not that one must run to the doctor with every trifling cold, but treat your own and your children's colds with common sense.

What Nash Teaches.

Of late the public has heard a great deal concerning the "Nash Treatment." This is the application of scientific accuracy to time-tried specifics heretofore successful in a limited way. The Nash brothers of Arkansas have gained prominence by enlisting the support of physicians, hospitals, health authorities and druggists in a treatment that relieves a cold without the use of drugs.

Nash teaches the public to apply local treatment at once when the first indications of a cold develop. This is in the form of a "fuming salve," the vapors of which have a soothing and healing effect upon the inflamed membranes of the head and throat.

In this salve are the ingredients your mother used in family emergencies: Menthol, camphor, oil of pine, oil of sassafras, oil of thyme, oil of eucalyptus, in a base of (stainless) petrolatum. It is applied to the nostrils for inhalation and thickly upon throat and chest for absorption having wonderful penetrating powers.

In repeated tests the Nash treatment has produced results positively amazing, although similar preparations have failed to relieve the patient more than temporarily at best. Undoubtedly this is due to the fact that Nash's Salve is compounded of highest quality ingredients which are possibly omitted by imitators because of high cost.

Nash's Salve is of very pleasant odor and the treatment adapts itself to personal convenience. You can keep a bottle at home and another at place of business. It does not make you sick nor will it interfere with the medicine the doctor may be giving you for another ailment.

Some of the Doctor's Dont's:

Don't neglect the most trifling cold. Don't sneeze and then say, "Excuse Me," for such a thing is inexcusable; you are spreading disease germs. Turn head and sneeze in handkerchief. Don't allow a bad cold to wear itself out. It may wear you out sooner.

Don't sit, or work, or sleep in a poorly ventilated room; best way in the world to catch cold.

Don't take cold "medicines" and cough "cures" unless you know the contents; start Nash treatment and call the doctor. Don't suffer the miseries of a bad cold when common sense treatment will break such a cold in one night.

Reputable Physicians Never "Patent" Formulas

physician to make known any unusual disease or new treatment to the entire medical fraternity. To cover a formula by patent is said to be unpardonable.

The Nash brothers first worked upon their formula when students of Vanderbilt University, College of Pharmacy. They perfected the formula by close observation of patient's reaction. As retail druggists, they had opportunities not always accorded a physician, but like the physician they announced their scientific discovery broadcast and made no attempt to patent it.

In Reach of All

To make this preparation of uniformly high quality and effectiveness and still keep the price within reach of all, the ingredients are purchased in very large quantity and every economy of distribution is sought. This is the seventh year that Nash's Croup-Pneumonia Salve has been on general sale and though much additional equipment has been added the production seldom catches up with the demand.

"FLU" EPIDEMIC VALUABLE LESSON SAYS DOCTOR

In discussing the deplorable epidemic of influenza of two and three years ago any physician of standing will tell you that it did much in the education of the public to the dangers of a cold.

The very fact that the "flu" starts with a cold brought about a wholesome fear of every symptom. Any person who sneezed in public was considered with suspicion and one with a cold in full bloom was usually advised to go home to bed.

"Slight colds are just as dangerous now as they were in 1918," said a physician just the other day. "The public must be made to understand that a cold left to run its course is the enemy not only of the one who has it, but every person who comes in contact with him."

Quack "Cures" Replaced by This Simple Treatment

So many worthless remedies have been foisted upon an unsuspecting public in recent years that some states are passing stringent regulatory measures.

"Cold cures," containing opiates and narcotics, that should be taken only upon the advice of a physician, have done more harm than good.

Nash's Salve is an ethical corrective for conditions arising from colds. It is applied externally and acts internally as its vapors are inhaled and absorbed.

Place a small quantity in each nostril, close mouth and breathe deeply; or melt a small amount in a spoon over a lighted match and inhale the vapors. Never fails to clear the nasal passages and bronchial tubes instantly.

Directions for treating deep-seated colds as well as croup, grippe, etc., should be followed closely; after spreading the salve thickly on throat and chest cover with warm white flannel. Arrange bedclothing so that patient must breathe the vapors all night.

Simple, easily understood directions will be found with every bottle of Nash's Croup-Pneumonia Salve. Professional ethics encourage your

Other articles dealing with colds, coughs, sore throat, croup, grippe and pneumonia will be published in this paper at frequent intervals. Meanwhile every druggist is urged to secure a liberal supply of Nash's Croup-Pneumonia Salve, both in 30 and 60-cent sizes in order to supply our readers without delay. D. D. Jones, druggist, can supply all customers promptly.

HERE IS SOMETHING THAT WILL ASTONISH YOU WITH REGARD TO THE SOCIAL HABITS OF OUR ENGLISH FRIENDS.

There is no mystery as to the cause that England is so overwhelmingly "wet" in a liquor sense. The distilleries and breweries are owned by the law makers of the nation, the leading members of parliament. From these high up members of society all the other classes take their cue. But that the Christians were so deep in the mire, few in this country have believed.

Hence it is that we have read with astonishment the following extract from one of the letters of the editor of the Western Christian Advocate, Cincinnati, who has just returned from Europe, where he went as a delegate to the Ecumenical Conference of World-wide Methodism at London:

"The attitude of our Wesleyan brethren was that of a group of men overtaken by the cross-currents of a restless sea in the midst of indecision. They seem not to know just how far it is wise to go with us in our prohibition propaganda. They have a different situation than we and it is almost impossible for them to see their way through the dense and impenetrable wall of the dominance of the liquor traffic, against which all their Christian ideals have thrown themselves in vain during the past years. Viewing their situation from the streets, as one passes by, it would seem that Great Britain is completely under the dominance of the liquor traffic, and that men and women alike are consuming liquor to such an extent as to threaten to sink the nation into a drunkard's grave. 'The Pub,' as they call it, in the evenings until late, and through all the hours of the day, is crowded with both men and women of all ages. We saw young mothers leave their babes in their buggies at the door, after locking the wheels carefully, pass into the saloon, go up to the bar and order their drinks. We saw them on the inside holding their children in one arm and a glass of beer in the other. We saw them holding conversations, passing in and out among the men as though the saloon were a social parlor. Women serve behind the bars and are called 'Bar Maids.' The process of stripping the saloon of its social rating has not yet begun. Think of respectable women tending bar in America! Or of a woman going into a saloon in America! We cannot understand it. We wonder how long it will continue, but the Britishers do not seem to have the conscience on this we have. They are even more liberal in their ideas on the use of cigarettes. For instance, one of the American pastors reported that after he had preached in one of the churches and enjoyed the hospitality at dinner at the home of one of the leading members, in the library his host informed him that he was to lead the class meeting that afternoon and the children's meeting, and asked him if he would like to accompany him. Then, turning, he took two cigarettes out of a case on the table, handed one to his wife, put the other in his own mouth, lit a match and offered it to her, and they both stood smoking together.

She said to her guest, "I suppose that this will shock you to see a woman smoking a cigarette." She knew that it would, but did not hesitate to shock him. He frankly confessed that it did appear as a little incongruous for a Christian woman to smoke cigarettes. But inwardly he wondered how a class leader could indulge in such unseemly things. In America such an act would be considered very reprehensible from a Christian point of view. Such an act would be looked upon as the corruption of womanhood on the part of manhood. But that was done without any compunction of conscience and, seemingly, without any violation of the Christian sense of right and wrong. In this matter it appears that we are surely a little in advance of our British brethren."

THE MOTHER OF PATRIOTS COMING OVER.

The "unknown British mother" who is to lay a wreath on the tomb of America's unknown warrior at Arlington Cemetery, November 11, was chosen. However, she is no longer an "unknown" mother. So outstanding were the exploits of the sons she lost in the war that her anonymity could not be preserved. She is Mrs. Amelia Emma McCudden, of 37 Burton road, Kingston-on-Thames.

Mrs. McCudden had twenty-five sons and near relatives in the British forces. Of these there were killed three sons, one son-in-law and two nephews. One son, Major James Byford McCudden, of the air forces, who was killed in July, 1918, brought down fifty-seven German airplanes and was awarded the Victoria Cross, the Distinguished Service Order, the Military Cross, the Military Medal, the Croix de Guerre, the American Aero Club Diploma and the Mons Star.

A second son, Lieutenant John A. McCudden, also of the air forces, who was killed in March, 1918, brought down eleven enemy machines and received the Military Cross. A third son, Flight Sergeant William T. J. McCudden, who was one of the first British military pilots, was killed in May, 1915, and received the Mons Star.

Her husband, Warrant Officer William H. McCudden, served twenty-seven years in the British army and received the Khedive Star and the Egyptian Medal and was personally decorated by Queen Victoria. He was killed after the armistice in a train accident.

Mrs. McCudden was officially notified of her selection. The present plan is for her to leave the last of this month or the first of November for New York, from where she will go first to Philadelphia at the cradle of the Nation's liberty and then to Washington.

The six-foot wreath which Mrs. McCudden is to lay on the tomb is already being assembled here in five sections, red roses representing England; blue violets and forget-me-nots, Wales; shamrock, Ireland; heather, Scotland, and white chrysanthemums and lilies representing the overseas dominions.

NOURISHING THE NAILS

Many young women feel that if they have their hair waved frequently and their nails manicured once a week or so, they are keeping themselves in splendid condition, and giving themselves an extravagant amount of "beauty treatments."

Nails. Manicuring is good for them, if only because the friction of the buffer brings the blood to them. But manicuring that spreads them with drying powders that rubs in strong bleaching acids and that cuts off too much cuticle, will coarsen the nails and eventually spoil their beauty.

The nails should be nourished and protected. Have you this cuticle cream formula of Mine? It's as follows:

Synthetic ambrol.....2 drops
Oil of rose.....2 drops
Parowax.....2 drams
White Ucol petrolatum.....6 drams

The last two ingredients are melted, the other two are added, the whole stirred and put into a small jar before it is cold. It makes a delicious cream that nourishes the nails, keeps them smooth, and acts as an astringent for the cuticle. After you have rubbed this in, push the cuticle back with an orange stick, and you will have a smooth finish around the edge of the nails.

L. M. P.—If you are about 40 years of age your weight is normal; if younger take off one half a pound for each year; if older add a half of a pound for each year. If you send me a stamped addressed envelope, I shall be pleased to mail you a formula for the perspiring feet.

MI.—Witch hazel is a mild astringent which will frequently be all that is needed to remove this shine from the skin at this season of the year.

Ethel.—Consult the doctor about this tendency to a chronic cold in the head. A nasal douche in which there is either some salt in the water or a small amount of mild antiseptic, will be healing and will not interfere with any other treatment.

Brick.—The lemon juice and soda will not injure the hair, unless it is dry by nature; but the lack of lustre, which you say is a condition of both your hair and your eyes shows that you need to be built up.

Ohio Federation of Women's Clubs

By Mrs. George Elliott McCormick.

With the Cincinnati convention of the Ohio Federation of Woman's Clubs at hand, Ohio club women who for months have been anticipating the pleasure of attending are now busily packing their grips for their journey to the Queen City. Indeed, some of them are already there.

A program that has been called "exceptionally piquant" to satisfy the tastes of all has been arranged, and indications on the eve of the convention point to the most enthusiastic, if not the largest convention ever conducted by the federation.

Easily the most interesting feature about the entire federation meet, if the expressions of interest in it can be accepted as any criterion, is the Pioneer Association of the Ohio Federation of Women's Clubs. Mrs. Addison Broomhall, of Troy, president of the Pioneers, says that so many have inquired about who are eligible to membership that she is fairly swamped with letters.

All founders of the federation, chairmen of standing committees, presidents and delegates who sat in the state convention up to and including 1906; also officers and members of the executive board, all chairmen of the program committees who have served a full term of office, are eligible to membership in the Pioneer Association. A founder shall have been an official club president or delegate present at the organization of the Ohio federation at Springfield in October 1894.

The annual dues of the Pioneer Association are 50 cents a year. Officers in addition to Mrs. Broomhall are Mrs. C. W. Kunkler, Dayton, vice president; Mrs. Edgar Todd, Piquette, secretary; and Miss Blanche Vigors, Canton, treasurer.

Aside from the Pioneers, the program has excited as much interest as anything else, judging from the number of inquiries from time to time. Next to the program itself Cincinnati ranks in interest among club women who will attend the twenty-sixth annual gathering. They are looking forward to a really worthwhile visit, and the Queen City forms a big part of the "picture."

Mrs. John MacKee, Springfield, art chairman, impresses upon the Federated Art Clubs and the clubs having art departments the importance of attending her art luncheon Wednesday noon.

Miss Annie Laws, Cincinnati, will voice a plea for the children at the meeting of the department of education Wednesday morning. She is chairman of the federation's kindergarten work. Mrs. Thomas Pierce, of Harrison, chairman of education will make her report at this time. The cinema as a part of educational work and its importance to the school room is bound to come up at this session for animated discussion. Dr. Randall J. Condon is to speak on "The Educational Film, a Demonstration of Class Room Film."

It is expected that at this conference federated club members will get something they will find useful to them for the proper observance of "better speech" week, Nov. 6 to 12.

For the purpose of furthering the better speech movement Ohio federation officials are counting on them to be on the qui vive. During that week all clubs should observe it in some way, their programs to include a paper or a lecture by some one who is an authority on the subject of "Better Speech."

Styles BY LENORE

Of all the lovely sights of Paris, none is more enchanting than its children, as they romp about in the garden of the Champs-Élysées, where they bowl their hoops and spin their Diabolo spoons, and ride on the horses of tiny merry-go-rounds turned by hand. And their little frocks are miracles of chic. That is, what there is of them. They are so short that they end almost before they begin. But they make the kiddies adorable.

Many of the shops here show knit wool frocks, either in tiny chemise models or made with suspenders, like the design in the sketch, featured in white with gold, blue or scarlet border. The skirt simulates pleats. The older little girl's frock is of marine blue velvet, with circular tiers, self-material buttons and cream batiste collar.

ERA OF BLOODSHED.

Still bloodshed is the modern fad, my protests don't avail; in almost every little grad some slayers are in jail. All kinds of folks behind the bars are locked, for gory deeds; famed clergymen and movie stars, and dames in window's weeds. The furies, free and running loose, urge crime with every breath and any frivolous excuse will do for sudden death. When all the nations were at strife, and gents slew scores of gents, men learned to think that human life is not worth fifteen cents. They carried back this grim belief from scenes of death and gore; and this delusion, fraught with grief, has spread from shore to shore. And so we hear the crack of guns throughout this country wide, and every day we're planting tons of delegates who died. The husband shoots his loving wife because she wears punk lids, and grandma takes the butcher knife when she'd correct the kids. The wires are burdened with the news of murders and of brawls, not in the alleys and the mews, but in the stately halls. And men of standing go to jail, and queenly dames are there; and all my protests don't avail—explaining my despair. We're wasting force on little things, denouncing minor flaws, while yet the armed assassin springs, and laughs to scorn our laws.

COUNTY LIBRARY DAY WEDNESDAY AT YELLOW SPRINGS

"Co-operative Binding for Ohio College Libraries" was the next subject on this division, with a report of the committee by A. S. Root, Oberlin College, librarian. A business session closed that division.

Miss Stella Hier, librarian of Woodward high school Cincinnati had charge of the School Libraries Round Table and the subjects were "The Work of the Class Room Library" and "The Recreational Reading of Young People as Stepping Stones to Good Taste." A general discussion followed each talk.

Hessie Welles, assistant librarian of the Toledo Public Library had charge of the Small Library Round Table. "How to Choose Public Documents for the Small Library," was the subject of the paper by Miss Bessie H. Shepard, head of the reference division of the Cleveland Public Library and instructor in reference work, at the Western Reserve University Library School. Miss Welles herself, presented the paper "Understanding All," and "Books for the Foreign Born," was the subject of the paper presented by Mrs. E. E. Ledbetter, Librarian of the Broadway branch of the Cleveland Public Library and chairman of the American library Association committee on work with the foreign born. This paper was the report of the Ohio library Association committee on Americanization.

Leaders in the rural life movement were invited to be guests of the association at the luncheon, Wednesday, and at the afternoon session. Ernest L. Antrim, vice president of the O. L. A. and trustee of the Van Wert County Library had charge of the trustees' section, which heard the report of the legislative committee. Grace Shingley, Librarian, of the county library at Rochester, Indiana presented a paper "Survey for Service." "The Transplanting of the Buckeye" was the subject of Miss Corinne A. Metz, county librarian of Allen county, Fort Wayne, Indiana, and "Meeting the Problem of a Limited Income" was the subject of an experience meeting to which Herbert S. Hrisbergh, of Toledo, Miss E. C. Doren, of Dayton, Miss Roena A. Ingham, of Lakewood and others contributed.

The alumni dinner is scheduled for 6:30 o'clock Wednesday evening at which time library schools will hold their special dinners, also J. J. Taber, state secretary of agriculture and Master of the Ohio State Grange will deliver the principal address at the evening session, Wednesday. "The Human Factor in Library Service" will be the subject of Prof. A. S. Root, president of the American Library Association and at the close of this session the Library Players of Cleveland will present Susan Glasspell's one-act play "Suppressed Desires." The business session of the convention will be held Thursday morning with the reports on committees: scholarship awards; state institutions; Ohio Counsel of Social Agencies; women's clubs; resolutions; nominations unfinished business and the election of officers on the program.

The Advantage of the Honor

There is a great advantage in having the honor. Few players, I venture to understand the unwavering importance of it.

"For purposes of illustration let me explain. I often play intentionally for what might be called the double honor, if there is such a thing. In other words, when I have the honor at the tee I nearly always send out a drive short enough to be pretty sure of giving me the first of the second shots. Now we are well into 'in side golf'."

The advantages of the honor are many. The advantages of the honor, let us say, on the second shot are of still greater importance. Let us begin at the tee.

The player with the honor sends out a terrific drive—one long and fairly straight. What is the effect on the next player up? He has observed his opponent's fine drive. He sets every muscle to equal that drive of better it. Strive as the expert players will, it seems impossible to teach golfers that the drive is not all there is to the game. His effort, then, to equal this drive leads him straight into temptation—and he fools. He is off in the rough, or he tops it. His opponent thus has drawn a great advantage from the honor.

Now, the other side of the picture. The honor player pulls or slices into the rough or the timber, or otherwise goes into penalty. What is the effect on the mind of the next player or players? He or they have observed the bad shot. Every thought is bent on avoiding a repetition of it. In seeking to avoid this you do—as every golfer knows—exactly what you tried not to do, and you find your self in a hazard. You have faced a mental hazard without realizing it. It is a dry equivalent of a water hole. Observe, also, that the man who had the honor has not after your poor shot, been penalized so much, since you are in as bad a fix as he. Again, the psychology of the honor does him in good stead.

I have mentioned previously how I often play the second shot first. I sometimes play three or four shots ahead of my tee shot. Thus, when I have the honor I lay my ball short off the tee with a definite purpose in view. Again and again I have seen the advantages to me of this. It gives me, in reality, a second honor—the first play up to the green from the fairway.

Now what happens here... I have trained by brassie and my midiron to let out a lot of distance for me when

I really want it. I can depend on it, usually, because I shoot with these clubs to the exclusion of all other distance clubs. Therefore I am familiar with them, and perhaps get more out of them. So, while I may be 30 to 75 yards back of my opponent off the tee, I am not disturbed. I draw forth the brassie, for instance, and make it yield me 300 or possibly 325 yards—straight for the pin usually. I am already playing for the honor at the next tee.

When the opponent sees this terrific brassie ball going like an arrow for the flag he really pictures it as much closer to the hole than it is likely to be when we come up. He fears the shot. He exerts himself beyond the ordinary. I have shot a club with which I am familiar—the same one I used at the tee; the brassie. He changes from the driver to the shorter brassie. He sees me, in his mind, at the hole—and in all this mental upset, he shoots.

The psychology of the honor is an important matter in golf.

How to Make Child-birth Easier!

DO YOU wish to know how thousands and thousands of women have gone thru motherhood without knowing some of the pains and discomforts incident to childbirth? Listen to this:

Motherhood creates almost a new state of being for a woman.

As a result, new nerves, those heretofore restful and quiescent, spring into activity, they cry out, they tingle, they burn in their unrest.

The network of nerves across the abdomen, the loins, the back and other parts now become super-sensitive. All these nerves are being called on to perform unusual duties.

These nerves must be pacified and comforted; must be put in condition for the crisis that is pending.

If these nerves are not soothed and quieted, they may set up aggravated nerve tension, increasing in severity from month to month, sometimes even culminating in a nervous paralysis of the back and limbs. This leaves the mother-to-be in a condition where she is unable, fully, to meet the test when the climax of maternity arrives.

WARNING: Avoid using plain oils, greases and substitutes—they act only on the skin and may cause harm without doing good.

Columbus, Oct. 19.—Wheat seeding is more than 90 per cent completed in all sections of the State except the Southern counties where more than three fourths of the sowing is done according to reports received by C.J. West, Agricultural Statistician. Corn husking is well under way in all sections of the State and corn is generally of good quality except where injured by drought and chinch bugs are reported. Damage from corn ear worms is reported. A considerable number of reports of hog cholera have been received especially in the Western counties of the State. As a State average the digging of late potatoes is more than 60 per cent completed though in the North central and Northeastern counties from 30 to 60 per cent of the digging is done.

Corn husking wages show decided reduction from last year. Taking the State as a whole it appears that about one-fourth of the corn crop is husked by machinery of either the shredder or cutter type. The average per bushel paid for machine husking is reported at from 4 to 8 cents with the State average around 6 cents. Reports indicate that hand husking wages will be from 4 to 8 cents with 5 cents per bushel the most common price. The prevailing wage last year was about 10 cents per bushel for both hand and machine husking.

COURT NEWS

SUES TO SET ASIDE DEED

Charles C. Davis claims that he was fraudulently compelled to deed away property he owned in Bellbrook for no consideration in his suit against Sarah A. Davis, Hattie A. Davis, Lena Badgley, Harlan Badgley, Mattie Gregg, Charles A. Gregg, John C. Davis and Pearl Davis, filed with Clerk of Courts Elam, and asking to set aside a deed.

The plaintiff claims that December 26, 1912, the defendant Sarah A. Davis and her husband, William A. Davis, the plaintiff's brother, by "fraud and threats," "procured, induced and compelled" the plaintiff to give them a joint deed for Lot No. 3 in Bellbrook and 12-feet off the north side of lot No. 4, which he owned for no other consideration than the promise that they would take care of him the rest of his life. He charges that within a few days after transferring the deed that he was forced to leave the premises, and at no time since has he been provided for, as promised and that he has been compelled to fall back on the charity of relatives. The petition states that William A. Davis died, leaving Sarah A. Davis, his widow, and the defendants Harry A. Davis, Lena Badgley, Mattie Gregg and John C. Davis, his children and heirs-at-law. That Mattie Davis is the wife of Harry Davis; Harlan Badgley the husband of Lena Badgley; Charles A. Gregg, the husband of Mattie Gregg; and Pearl Davis the wife of John C. Davis. He asks that the conveyance be set aside and held for nought and that the defendants be required to reconvey the property to the plaintiff, and that the title of the plaintiff be quieted against the claims of each of the defendants. Harry D. Smith is attorney for the plaintiff.

PROPERTY OWNERS AGITATE LAYING OF STREET COVERING

Agitation started by Market street property holders for some means of freedom from the noise of bricked streets, may find fruit in the city commission through medium of numerous repairs in the pavement now being necessitated.

According to people who live along the street, the brick pavement laid many years ago, is noisy and the amount of traffic on the street, especially with heavy trucks and wagons, has caused them to rise up in protest and ask for quieter surroundings.

The necessity of the city in executing numerous repairs on the street due to cave-ins caused by settling of the earth along the sanitary sewer route, has offered an excuse for residents along the street to ask for general improvements in place of the costly repairs.

The sanitary sewer on Market street was constructed down the center of the street. It evidently was laid but a short time before the street paving was put down, according to property holders, and the natural sinking of the earth combined with the heavy traffic is causing cave-ins all the way down the center of the street.

These cave-ins cause deep holes, which it is necessary for the city to protect with a pole and light, until they can be repaired. In order to avoid a repetition of the cave-in, iron bars are laid across the sewer ditch area, before the concrete is thrown in and the new bricks laid, in repairing the damage. So expensive is the operation, that it is said that the entire center section of the street could be torn up and relaid at half of the cost.

Property holders are now holding forth for the city commission the double bait of being able to repair the entire sanitary sewer section of the street and eliminate the noise of brick paving at the same time. They ask that all of the middle section of the street be torn up, refilled and re-enforced against further cave-ins, and then filled up with concrete, instead of brick and the entire surface of the street, be covered with asphaltum.

The asphaltum it is said, eliminates both noise and dust, requires no repairing and produces a clean, noiseless street. Property holders along the street, who are backing the noiseless street plan, point as an example to Washington, C. H., where all brick-paved streets were covered with asphaltum, each side of the street being torn up and filled with concrete, in order to make a level grade of asphalt to the gutter.

Those backing the plan say that it will be cheaper to tear up the center section of the street, and repair the sunken areas the entire length than to continue to make small repairs as necessary and that the asphaltum could then be laid over a concrete center, eliminating the necessity of re-laying a brick center in the street.

Acting City Manager T. H. Zell say that the cost of repairs of the streets is, as stated, high and that the plan of putting asphaltum on the street would eliminate noise. The sewers on East Church street were laid this year, he said, in order to let the ground settle sufficiently before the paving is laid.

The proposition of putting in a storm water sewer on West Market street is also being advocated by residents on the streets, it is understood. There is no storm water sewer on the street, the surface water being taken care of in the gutter, which necessitates deep gut-

U. S. HAS SUPPLIES OF PERISHABLE FOODS FOR FOUR WEEKS

Washington, Oct. 18.—Perishable food supply bases in the United States will stave off a famine of butter, eggs, poultry and cheese for four weeks in the event of a nation-wide railroad tie up, according to market figures compiled today by the bureau of markets of the department of agriculture here.

By a fortunate dove-tailing of dates, the date set for the walkout of railway employees marks the last day of heavy transcontinental traffic in potatoes, apples, vegetables and poultry. Twenty-four thousand car loads of these foodstuffs have been and will continue to be moved daily until October 30, when the movement will be curtailed by half for the winter months.

Milk would be the first commodity affected by the nation wide strike. The larger cities would feel the shortage greatest. Some relief in this respect might be expected from the rapid growth of the milk-truck traffic, which in many parts of the country now operates on the closest competition with the railway lines.

The first area to be affected by the strike, it is believed, would be California, because employees of the Southern Pacific lines are to be the first to walk out, tentative plans of the railway brotherhoods at Chicago indicate.

California, according to market statistics, though the first area to be affected, will also be the least affected of any area for California is

MORE GOOD PICKLES

The wise housekeeper stocks her preserve closet shelves with a goodly number of pickle jars. For, she realizes that she can serve her family more cold meats and more meat left overs if she has a delicious pickle on the table to "help out" the meat course. The following are recommended.

Cabbage Relish: Soak separately in brine, overnight, 1 quart chopped cabbage and 1 quart chopped green tomatoes. The brine should be made by using 1-4 cup of salt for every quart of cold water. In the morning drain vegetables and add to them the following: 1 pint chopped white onion 1 cup minced red pepper, 1 cup granulated sugar, 4 tablespoons white mustard seed, 1 tablespoon celery seed, 2 tablespoons salt, 1 quart vinegar, and 1 cup of minced green pepper. Mix well, let stand 2 hours, then boil up and let simmer till the tomatoes look yellowish and clear. Turn into hot jars which have been "sterilized" (that is, boiled 10 minutes in clear water) and seal airtight at once.

Tomato-Pepper Pickle: Put the following vegetables through the meat grinder: 1-2 quarts of green tomatoes, 1-2 quarts of red tomatoes, 2 red peppers without seeds and 3 large onions. Mix well, sprinkle with 1-2 cup of salt, let stand over night and in the morning drain thoroughly. Now put the mixture into the preserving kettle, add 1 quart of vinegar, 1 teaspoon ground cinnamon, 1-2 teaspoon ground cloves and 2 cups of granulated sugar and let cook until the tomato is tender and transparent. Seal airtight at once in hot, sterilized jars.

Spiced Pickled Grapes: Slip the pulp from the skins of 7 pounds of grapes. Put the pulp in a galvanized saucepan over the fire and let simmer till very soft (about 15 minutes). A very little water should be added at the start. Then press the stewed grapes through a sieve fine enough to keep back the seeds and add this sifted pulp to the skins. Also add 4 pounds of granulated sugar, 1 pint of vinegar, 1 teaspoon ground nutmeg 1 tablespoon ground cinnamon and 1-2 teaspoon ground cloves. Let this simmer for 2 hours, then turn into hot, sterilized jars and seal at once. (If the water boils out a very little more may be added, but grapes are watery and do not need much.)

Old-Time Chutney: Stone and chop 4 ounces of raisins; put 2 large onions, and 1 garlic through the meat grinder. Crush 2 ounces of mustard seed and put this seed with the garlic, onions and raisins. Now pound all these ingredients smooth, adding to them 2 teaspoons of salt and 1-8 teaspoon cayenne pepper. Pare, core and dice tart apples, then weigh them. There should be 1 pound of them. Boil this prepared apple in the preserving kettle with 2 cups of vinegar and 1-4 pound of sugar until the apple-pieces are tender and transparent. Press it through a sieve, return it to the kettle, add the pounded mixture, let come to boiling point again then seal in hot, sterilized jars at once.

TO CONFER CROSS ON GRAVE IN U. S.

London, Oct. 18.—The earl of Caven, who is expected to accompany the British delegation to the Washington conference as an expert on military affairs has been selected to confer the Victoria Cross upon the grave of America's "unknown soldier" in Arlington cemetery, the Daily Sketch announced today. It is understood Premier Lloyd George rules that the Victoria Cross should be conferred as a "political necessity."

There has been strong opposition the opponents including King George. This opposition was based upon the contention that it was legally and traditionally impossible to confer Britain's highest award upon a foreign soldier who had not even fought in the British army. The premier insisted and finally overcame the opposition. Foreign office experts were then called upon to devise means of making the award "legal."

SCHOOL BOARD TO RECEIVE LESS

Marion, Oct. 18.—Marion's city tax rate for this year will be $22.82 on each $1,000 of assessed valuation, according to a letter from County Auditor Decker addressed to the Marion board of Education today. As a result the school board it is said, will receive almost $100,000 less than it had asked for.

THE NEW GENERATION

A SCATHING DENUNCIATION

CHAPTER 67

Margaret's next visit to Joan was made unannounced. She suddenly longed to see her daughter, and acting on impulse she took a taxi to her rooms.

"I'll surprise her!" I'll not be announced!" she declared as the taxi lurched and careened along in the way New York cabs have a way of doing.

She dismissed the cabman and quietly climbed the stairs. She heard voices, and hesitated a moment before rapping. In that moment she heard her name, Joan was talking to someone about her. Scarcely realizing that she was listening Margaret halted. The door was not closed tightly and the young criane voice was plainly audible.

"She isn't my mother any more! I feel that I should be introduced just as I would to a stranger. I hate it all!" the voice suddenly grown angry.

"It is too bad, Joan, but don't take it so to heart. You can live your own life apart from her. You are fortunate in having money of your own. It means a lot when things go wrong."

A pungent smell of cigarette smoke drifted through the tiny opening in the door. The voice which Margaret recognized as Marthy Hardy's ceased. There was silence for a moment, then Joan said:

"And the worst of it is she'll marry that Forrester. I know it! Think of giving me a stepfather—at my age. Mother's too old to marry even if she does claim to be young. He's put all that in her head 'I'll bet my boots.' The reiteration of that 'she' made Margaret smile, at the same time that she wiped her eyes at the scathing resentment in Joan's voice and words.

"I thought he seemed very nice—he was good-looking anyway," Marthy returned.

"Oh, he's good looking enough! But I hate him. The idea of trying to win me over with flowers! He must think I am a weak minded creature. 'I'll show him I am not. He can take my mother from me,' her voice broke, 'but he can't make me a party of it.'

Margaret crept quietly away. She walked blocks before a taxi passed her, then she hailed it and went directly home.

"I'll see no one," she told Hannah.

"Not Mr. Forrester? He was here and said he'd come back."

"No, not even him I want to be alone."

"She seen Miss Joan and something's happened. I'll bet Miss Joan said cross things about him. 'Him, with Hannah, always meant Craig Forrester.'

Alone in her room Margaret tried to think out what was best to do: what she could do.

"I can't marry Craig. I shall lose my baby if I do," she said aloud. "Why does she hate the idea so intensely. She knows I am all alone. Tears of self pity, of longing fell from Margaret's eyes. But the longer she considered what she had heard the more surely did she see that she could never marry while Joan felt as she did.

"She isn't my mother any more!" that sentence rang in her ears. It was the drab plain old mother Joan loved not the brilliant young mother she had become.

"But I'll not go back to that life! Not even for her. I'll give up Craig," a sob died in her throat, and she went white. She had given Craig Forrester the only real love of her life. It would be hard to let him go.

Until late afternoon she fought her battle of loves.

Joan pitted against Craig Forrester.

And Joan won.

It was 5 o'clock when Margaret called her daughter on the telephone.

"Come down and have dinner with me, dear. I am alone and need cheering up. Hannah will have everything you like."

"You are going to be alone?"

"Yes—all alone," Joan answered shortly. "Then I'll come," Joan answered shortly. Tomorrow—Joan Decides To Live In A Studio.

A Fable

ONCE upon a time a man had a furnace which was not heating his home to a very great degree of satisfaction. One day he became angry and going down to the basement stood before it and exclaimed: "Not one more lump of coal will you get until you give me more heat!" —The poor nut froze to death.

Your business may not be giving you just exactly the right results during the present period, but good, forceful advertising is the kind of fuel that will bring improvement. And don't insist on getting results before you supply the right kind of fuel, or like the man with his furnace, you'll freeze to death.
